Changes to the Use of improper tachograph violation

(menu: Reports -> Infringements and manipulations)

- The violation Use of improper tachograph is now generated only for vehicles registered in the European Union, the European Economic Area, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, San Marino, Andorra, and Monaco.

France – NATINF code and violation Class for missing start/end country entry

(menu: Reports -> Infringements and manipulations)

- A NATINF code (26355) and violation class (Class 4) have been added for the violation regarding missing start and end country entries.
  - This violation will appear if the corresponding record is added to the Administration.csv file.

Switzerland – Changes to the Too many work days between weekly rests violation

(menu: Reports -> Infringements and manipulations)

- The violation Too many work days between weekly rests is now generated exclusively for self-employed drivers.
  - The violation period is calculated in full calendar days.
  - For drivers under an employment contract, the No weekly rest violation is generated instead.

Switzerland – Changes to the violation No weekly rest (ARV2)

(menu: Reports -> Infringements and manipulations)

- The time threshold for the violation No weekly rest has been set to 35 hours.
- The display of the weekly rest violation has been modified on both the weekly and monthly charts:
  - The violation is now shown across the full week (Monday through Sunday) when the normative rest time is breached.
  - The violation is also displayed in the violations list.
- These changes apply exclusively to reports generated under ARV2 regulations.
